Invest in the well-being and welfare of your staff

Based in the heart of Waterloo, InterHealth is a specialist medical charity who has 20 years experience acting as medical advisor to many of the UK's major international relief and development agencies. We offer Occupational Health services to many UK companies and charities.

While CSR budgets are being cut, you can still achieve social and charitable objectives through 'ethical procurement'; meeting your procurement needs whilst supporting an international charity at the same time!

Based at 111 Westminster Bridge Road, InterHealth is based just a few minutes walk from the South Bank and Waterloo station, opposite Lambeth North tube.

Travel Clinic

Do you have frequent travellers in need of vaccinations and travel health advice?

Send your frequent travellers down to our Travel Clinic for their pre-travel health preparation where they can:

- get up-to-date on their immunisations.
- purchase the appropriate anti-malarials and a range of travel supplies.
- get up-to-the minute health information for countries all over the world including vaccine requirements, disease outbreaks and advice on managing pre-existing health conditions.

We can see travellers returning from travel with ill-health within 24 hours for a full health screening.

Occupational Health

Do you need Occupational Health support, pre-employment screening, sickness absence referrals or workstation assessments?

Have your Occupational Health needs addressed by our specialist team. Drawing on experience serving large and small companies and charities (from PLCs to housing associations), our services cover:

- pre-employment health screening
- sickness absence referral management
- work-station assessments
- ill-health retirement reviews

Work-life balance and stress management support

In need of stress management and work-life balance support for your management teams?

With redundancies widespread, work-life balance issues and stress levels are rising sky high. Our team of 7 professional Psychological Health specialists have years of experience providing support to a range of high-risk, high-stress groups including business travellers, international humanitarian workers, senior managers and those in high pressure or emotionally challenging roles.

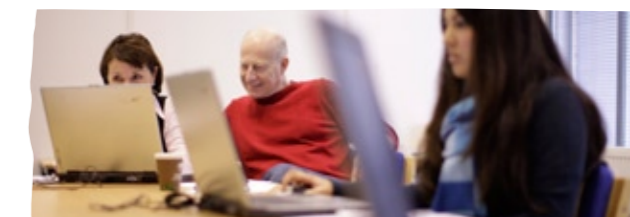

Invest in your staff well-being by offering solid work-life balance and stress management consultations in a safe and confidential setting.
